

Worksheet #

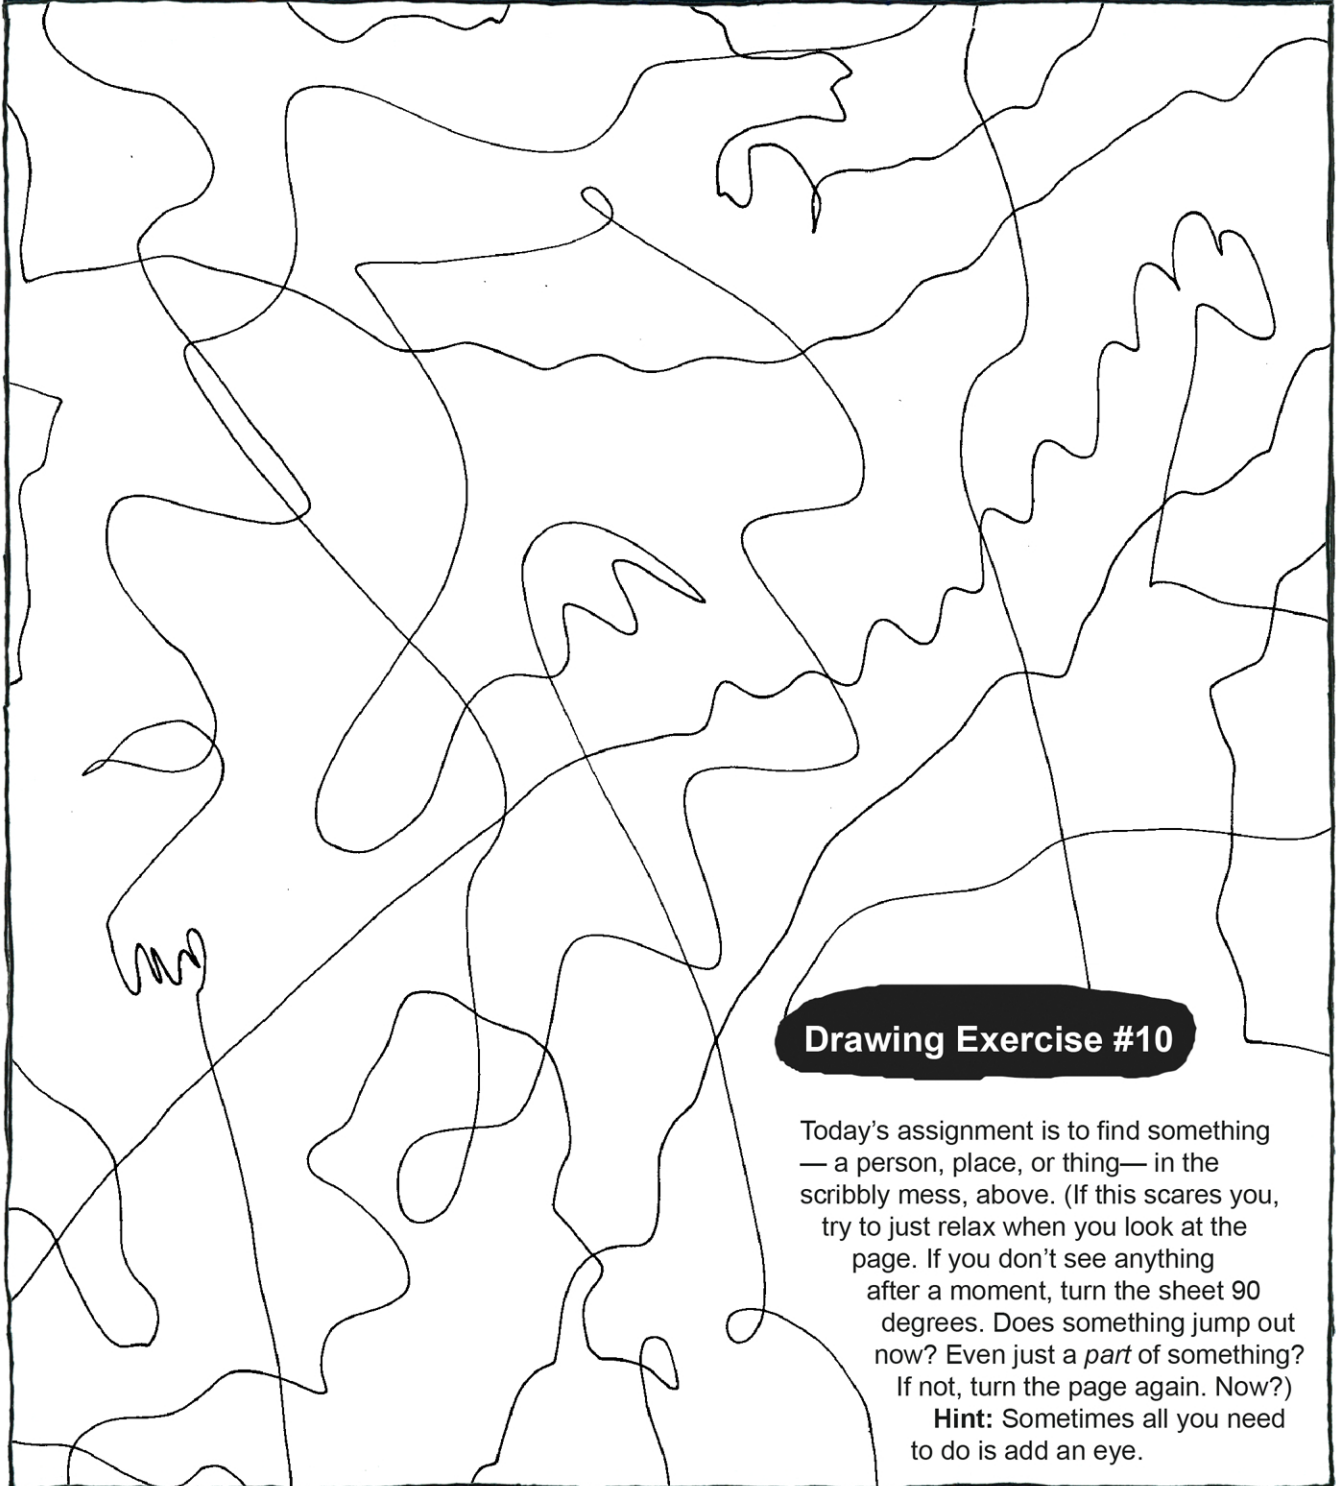

3.17

"Humor does not rescue us from unhappiness, but enables us to move back from it a little."

- MASON COOLEY

THE ART OF SILLINESS

An Online Workshop with Carla Sonheim • Session III • Friday, 1/21/11

Drawing Exercise #10

Today's assignment is to find something — a person, place, or thing — in the scribbly mess, above. (If this scares you, try to just relax when you look at the page. If you don't see anything after a moment, turn the sheet 90 degrees. Does something jump out now? Even just a part of something? If not, turn the page again. Now?)

Hint: Sometimes all you need to do is add an eye.